SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

In re RECEIVER GENERAL
versus
C. G. PEROT, Executor of W. H. PEROT.
(Opposition to Fiat.)

W. H. Perot was domiciled and died at Baltimore on 8th June, 1903, being then entitled, as one of the heirs of A. W. Perot who died on the 21st November, 1880, to one undivided sixth of A. W. Perot's estate, part of which, consisting of movable and immovable property, is situate in this colony.

Neither W. H. Perot nor any other heir of A. W. Perot took possession of the property of the said estate or as such appointed an attorney here until 1909, the estate being till then administered by the executors of A. W. Perot's will, and subsequently up to 1911 by administrators appointed by this Court.

At the time of W. H. Perot's death his interest in the said estate was not considered to be of any than present value, his executor C. G. Perot was then and still is resident and domiciled at Baltimore, and was not aware of the interest of W. H. Perot in the said estate being liable to estate duty or of the provisions of section 13 of the Estate Duty Ordinance, 1898. By power of attorney dated 18th May, 1911, and recorded 27th June, 1911, J. B. Laing and F. J. Bankart were appointed attorneys of C. G. Perot, and on 28th July, 1911, the inventory and declaration required by the Estate Duty Ordinance, 1898, were delivered and made and Estate Duty paid.

The Receiver General now claims that under section 17 of that Ordinance the executor, C. G. Perot, is personally liable to pay, in addition to the duty already paid, double the amount of duty chargeable, on the ground that he neglected to deliver the inventory and make the declaration within six months after W. H. Perot's death.

The power of the Legislature of this colony to impose conditions on the acquisition by persons domiciled elsewhere of immovable property in this colony, and (with some limitations) of movable property situate here, and to provide that if such conditions are not fulfilled such property shall not be acquired, cannot I think be disputed. Also no doubt the Legislature with the sanction of the Combined Court, may lay a tax on all successions by such persons to property in this colony, and provide for the recovery of such tax from such property. But legislation of these kinds differs widely from enactments imposing a personal obligation on persons not natives of the colony and domiciled elsewhere to do certain acts, and in default rendering them personally liable to a penalty. Such enactments could not in my opinion be reconciled with the general principle that the laws of any country are territorial and affect its own subjects only and do not apply to foreigners who are neither domiciled nor commorant therein. (Dictum of Lord Ellenborough, C. J. in Buchanan v. Rucker, 9 East at p. 194: cf. Opinion of Sir A. E. Cockburn and Sir R. Bethel Cr. Law Officers of England as to the powers of the Legislature of this colony, February, 1855.) It cannot be presumed that the Legislature intended to make any enactment conflicting with this well-known principle of Private International Law, and sections 13 and 17 of the Estate Duty Ordinance, 1898, must, in my opinion, be construed notwithstanding the generality of the words therein as not imposing any liability on those not natives or domiciled or resident here who may become heirs or executors of persons domiciled abroad but having property here, to file an inventory of such persons' estate and make a declaration as to its value, within six months of such persons' death. The maxim that every person is presumed to know the law cannot be so extended as to impute a knowledge of the enactments of a Legislature to persons who are not subject to its jurisdiction and any construction of sections 13 and 17 other than the one just mentioned not only conflict with the principle already stated but would lead to persons domiciled and resident elsewhere becoming personally liable to penalties for non-compliance with legislative provisions of whose existence they (as has been admitted by counsel for the Crown in Mr. C. G. Perot's case) were ignorant.

It may be added (although it is not necessary in view of the foregoing to decide the question) that from the language of section 17 it appears doubtful whether the "further penalty" therein mentioned can be recovered unless the penalty recoverable on summary conviction has previously been recovered. It is admitted that proceedings for recovery of such penalty could not be taken in this case.

Fiat is refused with costs to the opposer.

HENRY J. BOVELL, C.J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

YOUNG, Appellant,
versus
OSBOURNE, Respondent.

This is an appeal from an order of the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District, ordering the recovery by distress of $7 being the total arrears up to 15th December, 1911, of payments required by an alleged order under the Bastardy Ordinance, 1903, to be made by the appellant to the respondent.

The only reasons for appeal which have been argued are in substance and effect (1) that the alleged order was never signed by the Magistrate who heard the respondent's complaint under the Bastardy Ordinance, 1903, and who is no longer a Magistrate, that no other Magistrate has power to sign such order and therefore the alleged order cannot be enforced; and (2) that the hearing of the case having been adjourned for decision of the point just mentioned, the Magistrate wrongly continued the hearing on a subsequent day in the absence of the appellant who was not aware that the hearing was to be resumed on that day.

In the case Reg. v. Lanyon (27 L.J., 355) a question having arisen as to whether Justices of the Peace in cases where an order in bastardy had been incorrectly drawn up could without issuing a fresh summons and holding a fresh hearing draw up a second order, Quain, J., in his considered judgment, refers to the case of Reg. v. Brisby (18 L.J., H.C. 157) and says "the second application in that case appears to have "been made to other Justices than those who heard "the first, and of course if other Justices are called "upon to make an order there must be a fresh hear-"ing before them." The present case in my opinion is within that principle as if fresh Justices cannot draw up a second order without re-hearing they cannot complete a first order. Mr. Justice Manby could not make and sign the formal order without having a fresh hearing. Hence the order drawn up and signed by him was invalid and the proceedings to enforce it cannot be supported.

The appeal is allowed with costs and the proceedings quashed, without prejudice to any fresh proceedings to obtain a valid order.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

GENERAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

DEURWARDER, plaintiff,
versus
BOOKER BROS., McCONNELL AND CO., LTD., defendant.

The plaintiff claims $2,700 as damages for the los of a leg by the alleged negligence of the servants o the defendant.

A wooden sluice, the property of the defendant company on Plantation Melville, was on the 11th August, 1911, being repaired by one Peter Low, and when a cross-beam connecting a pair of stanchions standing on the two sides of the sluice was being removed, one of the stanchions, not being kept in position by sufficient stays, sheered off and the beam fell, and in falling it or a piece of wood on which it was resting struck the plaintiff and broke his leg below the knee, and it was subsequently found necessary to take off the leg just above the knee. The plaintiff was one of the porters working under the direction and supervision of Peter Low in removing the cross-beams connecting the several pairs of stanchions on the two sides of the said sluice at the time when his leg was broken as already mentioned.

The defence denies the several averments in the statement of claim as to Peter Low being the servant or agent of the company, and as to the plaintiff being in its service or employed by it on the 11th August, 1912. The alleged negligence is also denied, and the damages (if any) stated to be the result of an inevitable accident; and in the alternative, contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff is pleaded. In our opinion it is not proved that the plaintiff was employed by the defendant company to work under P. Low and assist him in any matter connected with the repair of the sluice.

Digitized by Google

The evidence shows that Peter Low was employed by the company to repair and renew the sluice which was in bad order, that Low agreed to do the work for the sum of $140, that he selected, employed, fixed the wages of and paid such porters and carpenters as he thought were required, that he received advances from the company in respect of the job, the amount of such advances being determined not by the company and proportioned to the number of persons he employed, but by Low himself subject to the limitation that the total advances at any date did not form a larger part of the total sum to be paid than the work done to that date did of all the work to be done, that while the work was in progress it was from time to time visited and inspected by an overseer, but no orders were given by him as to the mode of doing the work nor did he interfere with the porters and carpenters working under Low. Low worked frequently on Plantation Melville, sometimes being paid by the day, and sometimes by the job. He was not, however, a person legally bound to give all his time and services to the company, and whether in any particular instance where he was not paid by the day he was working as a servant of the company under its direction and control though paid by the task or piece of work done, or was a contractor having independent control of the work to be done and of the mode of doing it, is a question of fact. In the present case the evidence in our opinion establishes that he was a contractor having independent control of the work to be done, and as the work to be done was lawful and would not in the ordinary and natural course of things be likely to cause injury to others, he alone, if it was done negligently, and not his employer, would be liable (Reedie v. L. & N. W. R. Co., 4 Ex., 244: Rapron v. Cubitt, 9 M. & W., 710; Sadler v. Heulsek, 4 U. & B. 570; Blake v. Woolf, L. R. (1898) 2 Q.B. 426).

In view of the conclusion just stated it is unnecessary to consider the other points raised by the statement of defence.

The action is dismissed with costs.

APPEAL COURT (FULL COURT.)

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

LAURENCE
versus
ATTORNEY GENERAL OF BRITISH GUIANA.

This is an appeal from Hill, J., who, in a claim made by appellant for the refund of certain fees paid under protest, gave judgment for the respondent.

The appellant by writing on 23rd November, 1904, 26th May, 1906, and 30th March, 1907, notified the Registrar that by deed of transfer and cession he had assigned to certain parties Letters Patent which had been issued to him and to each of these notifications a copy of the assignment was attached for filing in the Registrar's Office as required by section 25 (3) of the Patents Ordinance, 1902. At the time of such filing no fee was demanded, but on 10th April, 1911, such demand was made with an intimation that if not complied with the filing record would be cancelled—whereupon the fee in each case was paid as above stated.

Section 25 (3) says, "Copies of deeds, licences, and "any other documents affecting the proprietorship "in any Letters Patent or in any licence thereunder, "must be supplied to the Registrar in the prescribed "manner for filing in his office," and by section 2 the word "prescribed" means prescribed by any schedule to or regulation under the Ordinance. No rules or regulations have been made and therefore to the schedules only can the Court refer to say whether or not these fees are payable. The present claim is made by the Registrar under the second schedule which provides that "on deposit of any "assignment, deed, licence, or other document affecting proprietorship of patent," a fee of $10 shall be paid. Under the English rules made by virtue of the provisions of the Patents, Designs and Trade Marks Acts 1883 to 1902, it is required that a fee of ten shillings be paid on every entry of an assignment, &c. Rule 54 requires that a request for such entry be left at the Patent Office, while rules 55 and 56 deal with the form of, and the particulars to be stated in such request, including the particulars of the assignment, &c., by virtue of which such entry is claimed. Then rule 57 says that every assignment and every other document of title claimed by such request—except such documents as are matters of record—shall be produced together with the request and where the document is a matter of record an official or certified copy thereof shall be produced and rule 58 requires that with the request there shall be left an attested copy of the assignment or other document, or, where it is a document which is a matter of record, the copy required to be produced. A reference to the schedule of fees does not show any fee payable in respect of any copy required to be left, that is, supplied for filing under section 23 (3) of the Patents Acts 1883, which corresponds with section 25 of our local Ordinance, but the fee is payable in respect of the entry of the name of the assignee in the register of Patents which entry can only be made in accordance with the rules above referred to. It is to be regretted that no local rules have been enacted.

The Court is of opinion that a copy of an assignment is not a document affecting the proprietorship, and a reference to the English rules show the purpose for which it is filed. It may be that by an oversight the word "deposit" has been used in our local schedule instead of the word "entry" which is the entry in the Register of Patents and not the supplying or filing of copies, but this Court cannot extend the clear meaning of this word "deposit" to include any one of the other three, viz., entry, supplying or filing. Our local schedule however provides that for every matter or thing not above provided for a fee of one dollar is payable. There is no such provision in the English Schedule of Fees. Under this local provision a fee of one dollar is payable in respect of every copy supplied to or filed with the Registrar.

The appeal is allowed with costs of the Court below and of the Full Court limited to 10% in each Court on the sum of $27.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

RAMJIT, et al, appellants,
versus
CALLENDER (Sergeant-Major), respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge of unlawfully and maliciously wounding one Gobinda.

The reasons for appeal (shortly stated) are : (1) that the Magistrate's Court had no jurisdiction, (a) the assault having been committed in assertion of the appellants' right to the land whereon the assault took place, free from any right on Gobinda's part to use the same; (b) and (c), a bona fide question as to the title to immovable property or as to an interest therein or accruing therefrom, viz., as to a right of way, having bona fide arisen at the hearing; (2) that the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence, there being (a) no evidence of unlawful and malicious wounding; (b) there being no such evidence as to the injury received as to prevent the charge being reduced to one of common assault as prayed at the hearing; and (c) there being a conflict of evidence to which of the two appellants used a stick when the assault was committed.

An assault by the appellants on Gobinda is clearly proved by the evidence, and the medical testimony shows there were wounds on him as distinct from mere abrasions of the skin. Even if Gobinda at the time in question was a trespasser, the intentional beating him with a stick or sticks and thus wounding him would be unlawful, and the evidence, in my opinion, was sufficient to support a charge of unlawfully and maliciously wounding (R. v. Ward, L. R. 1 C. C. R. 356). This being so, the Magistrate was not bound to allow the charge to be reduced to one for a common assault. Nor in view of the evidence that both the appellants had sticks, of Gobinda's testimony "first defendant (i.e., appellant) hit me first with a stick" and of Jamraris' statement that both the appellants "beat Gobinda with sticks," can the Court hold that the Magistrate could not reasonably conclude that a stick was used by each of the appellants, there being no evidence expressly contradicting this, though the witnesses do not all mention both appellants as using a stick. The second reason for appeal is, therefore, unsustainable.

Digitized by Google

The first reason also, in my opinion, cannot be supported. The only evidence bearing on the point raised is that given by Gobinda and the witness Risto, in cross-examination. The former says: "On "the day in question, I was walking between de- "fendants (i.e., appellants) and my lot. The defend- "ants say, I have no right to walk there, but I say "I have such a right"; and the latter states "Where "I first saw defendants (i.e., appellants) they were "pushing Gobinda back as they said he had no right "to walk where he was."

As laid down in Cornwell v. Sanders (32 L.J. Ma. C. 6) and other cases, there must be something more than a bare assertion of right by a defendant in order to oust the jurisdiction of Justices, the defendant must satisfy them that there is some reasonable ground for his assertion of title, and a claim of title must not be only a jus tertii. In the present case, the only evidence before the Court was that the appellants denied the respondent's right to walk on the land where he was walking, but there is nothing to show whether they claimed such land themselves, and if they did, on what ground they based their claim, and on the other hand the respondent's evidence that he was walking between the appellants' and his lot is some evidence that the land was not the property of the appellants. On the whole, I think the evidence is too meagre and vague to oust, under section 11 of Ordinance 17 of 1893, the Magistrate's jurisdiction.

The appellants' lawyer having elected in the Court below not to put forward any evidence, but to rely on the evidence already quoted in support of the objection then taken that the Magistrate's jurisdiction was ousted, this Court cannot properly now allow further evidence to be given in connection with that matter. The appellants' counsel has stated that he does not desire the case referred back that evidence as to the charge itself may be produced by the appellants, but has urged that in view of the facts the sentence should be reduced. I doubt whether this Court can reduce the charge to one of common assault, the evidence supporting the whole charge laid (cf. Cooper v. Yearwood, 24th December, 1909), and on the whole I see no sufficient reason for reduction of the sentence imposed by the Court below, this Court as a rule abstaining from so doing.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed and the appeal dismissed with costs.

MOORE, P.C. 1,945.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District who convicted the appellant of unlawfully assaulting P.C. 2,501, Austin, a Peace Officer, whilst acting in the execution of his duty and ordered him to pay a penalty of fifty dollars.

The reasons of appeal are that the decision is unwarranted by the evidence and erroneous in point of law.

The evidence is to the effect that on the 9th February, the respondent was with P.C. Austin (both in civilian clothes) out on special duty trying samples of milk for analysis under the Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892, when they saw the appellant in Anira Street, Georgetown, with two saucepans containing milk and that on being asked to sell 1½ pints from the smaller saucepan he refused to do so, that P.C. Austin then noticed that this saucepan which was in appellant's hand was inclined to lean and on holding on to it appellant put his hand underneath it and threw the milk over the constable.

Under section 19 of the Food and Drugs Ordinance, 1892, "any Police Constable" is authorised to take samples for analysis, and under section 5 (18) of the Interpretation Ordinance, 1891, the expression "Peace Officer" includes any Police Constable. It is argued in behalf of the appellant that a Peace Officer can only be assaulted in the execution of his duty when such duty is that of a Peace Officer, and that when on special duty obtaining samples of milk for the purpose of analysis he is not in the execution of his duty as such Peace Officer.

I do not think this argument tenable. It is as a Police Constable (that is under the Interpretation Ordinance as a Peace Officer) that he has such duty imposed on him by statute and when in the discharge of that duty he is acting in the execution of his duty. The Magistrate has found that appellant threw the milk over the constable. If he did this in an attempt to get rid of the milk counsel admits that it would amount to an assault but only a technical one and he submits that this Court would reduce the penalty imposed. The appellant says in his cross-examination that the Police had withdrawn the charge against him of refusing to sell milk and the Court is asked on the strength of this statement to say that the milk on analysis was found to be pure. If it was proved that some of the milk from the same saucepan was found to be pure no doubt it would be a good ground for asking that the penalty be reduced. This statement however of the appellant's is immediately preceded by "they took the milk in my other saucepan to Brickdam." It is not suggested that appellant refused to sell milk from this other saucepan. The evidence is that the contents of the first saucepan—said by appellant to be one pint—was thrown on the constable and it was from this saucepan that appellant refused to sell. This Court is loath to interfere with the discretion of the Magistrate whose duty it is to impose such penalties as will, in his opinion, deter the commission of offences. In the present case if the Magistrate formed the opinion—as on the evidence he well might have done—that the assault was committed in getting rid of milk which appellant for reasons of his own refused to sell, then I do not think that the penalty imposed was under all the circumstances out of proportion to the offence committed.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1912.

J. A. SWAVING, et al,

versus

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF BRITISH GUIANA.

In this case the plaintiffs are Joseph Albert Swaving, Hannah Elizabeth Swaving, Antoinetta Christabel Swaving, John Bernard Justin Swaving, Lodwick Stanley Swaving, Edric Augustus Philip Bender, Bernard Christian Bender and James Harris.

As the sole surviving heirs of "J. J. Swaving, otherwise known as John Justus Swaving, otherwise known as Jan Jus Swaving," they claim from the defendant as representing the Government of British Guiana the sum of $826.55 with interest from the 11th of November, 1907, and such other sum or sums standing to the credit of the estate of the said J. J. Swaving. The claim is brought by Petition of Right and the fiat of His Excellency the acting Governor, granting the petition appears on the statement of claim.

It is clear on the evidence that one Jan Justus Swaving was at one time the owner of Plantations Hollandia and Zeelandia in the Berbice River.

On the 15th February, 1889, the Administrator General of the colony petitioned in the Supreme Court for leave to sell the said Plantations Hollandia and Zeelandia as abandoned, under the provisions of the Administrator General's Ordinance, 1887. The petition sets forth that the plantations were then "in an abandoned condition" and "for very many years" had been "in the possession of squatters."

It also states that the "latest documents relating to these properties are the transports to Jan Justus Swaving," and exhibits O. & P., two later transports, fix the date of those transports as the fifth of May, 1794.

The plantations were sold by the Administrator General and transported to one Philip Henry Nind, his heirs and assigns on the 15th May, 1889, see exhibits O. & P.

Exhibit Q. the Account Current Book of the Administrator General's Department shows under date 22nd May, 1889, that the amount realised from the sale of the two plantations after payment of expenses was $705.60, and exhibit R. contains a receipt dated the 30th July, 1898, by the Receiver General from the Administrator General of a sum of $826.55 standing in the name of the absent heirs of J. J. Swaving. The sum of $826.55 probably represents the aforesaid sum of $705.60 with interest thereon from 1889 to 1898.

On the 16th June, 1906, there appeared an advertisement in the "Official Gazette" of the colony that the Government held this $826.55 to the credit of the heirs of J. J. Swaving.

The acting Solicitor General admitted the same during the hearing.

Before the plaintiffs can succeed they must prove "inter alia" that the J. J. Swaving through whom they claim is the Jan Justus Swaving to whom these plantations were transported on the 5th May, 1794, as he was the last known owner before the sale of the properties by the Administrator General.

The evidence does not point to any other method of proving ownership by the J. J. Swaving through whom the plaintiffs claim.

Digitized by Google

There is no evidence of acts of ownership, residence, or anything done by the said J. J. Swaving which connects him in any way with the two plantations.

On the 5th May, 1794, the colony was then in the hands of the Dutch, and it is reasonable to infer from the name that Jan Justus Swaving was a man of Dutch descent, who had attained manhood at the time when the plantations were transported to him. Assuming then that he was at least twenty-one years of age on the 5th May, 1794, he must have been, if he were alive, at least 71 years of age on the 1st February, 1845. The latter date is selected because it is the date on a Certificate of Baptism, exhibit C, which will be referred to later.

Now what is the evidence produced by the plaintiffs?

Two witnesses, a brother and a sister, John Charles Leps, and Elizabeth Cornelia Leps, swear that they knew the J. J. Swaving through whom plaintiffs claim. John Charles Leps says he himself is seventy-four years of age and that he (Swaving) lived at Plectantur, that he died in the "forties" (i.e., between 1840 and 1850), that when he first knew him, he (Swaving) was about thirty years of age, a full-grown man, a creole, and a native of Berbice.

If John Charles Leps is now seventy-four years of age he must have been born about 1838. When he first knew Swaving, it must have been about the year 1846, and as Swaving died in the "forties" according to his evidence, he cannot have known him long.

Further this Swaving at that time, 1846, was about thirty years of age. It is impossible therefore for him to have been the Jan Justus Swaving to whom the two plantations were transported in 1794.

Elizabeth Cornelia Leps says she is seventy-eight years of age, that she knew one J. J. Swaving, in the Berbice River, that he visited her father's house, that he lived at Plectantur, that she cannot say how old she was when he died, but that it is a long time ago, that he was not a white man but coloured, and that Antoinetta, (the mother of his children) was coloured dark, very dark, but not black. This evidence does not in any way identify the J. J. Swaving whom she knew with the Jan Justus Swaving, the owner of the plantations. I now turn to the Certificate of Baptism above referred to, exhibit C. It is the Certificate of the Baptism of Anna Maria, one of the two children of the J. J. Swaving through whom plaintiffs claim. The date of the baptism is February 1st, 1845. It contains the names of the parents and other particulars (supplied, one may reasonably infer, by one of the parents). There J. J. Swaving's name is given as Justus Swaving simply, his "abode" as Bestendigheid, and his "quality, trade, or profession" as "carpenter."

The result of the plaintiffs' evidence so far is that the said J. J. Swaving was called Justus Swaving, that he lived at Bestendigheid and Plectantur, that in 1845, he was a carpenter, that in 1846, he was about thirty years of age and that he was coloured, i.e., of mixed blood and born in the colony.

Further there is no evidence that he had anything whatever to do with the plantations Hollandia and Zeelandia. J. C. Leps says that Plectantur where he lived is sixty miles distant from those plantations.

On that evidence the Court has not the least hesitation in finding that this coloured carpenter named Justus Swaving aged about thirty in 1846, is not the Jan Justus Swaving to whom the plantations Hollandia and Zeelandia were transported in 1794, and who, as far as the evidence shows, was the last known owner thereof before the sale by the Administrator General.

The plaintiffs' case therefore fails.

It is weak also in other parts into which it is not now necessary to enter.

I non-suit the plaintiffs with costs for the defendant.

APPEAL COURT (FULL COURT.)

FRIDAY, 29TH MARCH, 1912.

This is a petition by B. C. Belmonte for leave to appeal to His Majesty-in-Council from an order of the Full Court dated February 16th, 1912, directing that his name be struck off the Roll of Solicitors.

The petitioner was represented by Mr. Laurence and the application is made under Rule 2 of the rules now in force relating to Appeals to His Majesty-in-Council. That rule reads as follows:—

"Subject to the provisions of these rules, an appeal shall lie:—

(a) as of right, from any final judgment of the Court where the matter in dispute on the appeal amounts to or is of the value of five hundred pounds sterling or upwards, or where the appeal involves directly or indirectly, some claim or question to or respecting property or some civil right amounting to or of the value of five hundred pounds sterling or upwards; and (b) at the discretion of the Court, from any other judgment of the Court, whether final or interlocutory, if, in the opinion of the Court, the question involved in the appeal is one, which by reason of its great general or public importance or otherwise ought to be submitted to His Majesty-in-Council for decision.

Mr. Laurence for the petitioner relied mainly on clause (a) of the rule quoted and asked the Court to presume that the right of the petitioner to practise his profession (of which by the order he has been deprived) is "a civil right amounting to or of the value of five hundred pounds sterling or upwards."

The Court however holds that the words quoted do not and are not intended to apply to a decision or order under which the name of a solicitor is struck off the Roll.

Rule 2 must be read "subject to the provisions of" the other rules, and the other rules (see rules 4 and 5) clearly show that Rule 2 is intended to apply only to cases where there are two parties before the Court, a plaintiff and a defendant or an appellant and a respondent, in which rights as between themselves are in issue, and not to a case such as this.

Counsel for the petitioner practically admitted this, when he asked the Court to waive the provisions contained in Rule 5 as to the conditions on which an appeal should be granted on the ground that they were only applicable to cases where it was necessary to provide that another party should not be damnified by allowing an appeal. But Rule 5 reads as follows:—

"Leave to appeal under Rule 2 shall only be granted by the Court in the first instance" upon the conditions set forth therein, i.e. in Rule 5.

The important words there are "shall only." They are imperative and restrictive. No leave can be given under Rule 2 except subject to the conditions set forth in Rule 5, and if such conditions do not apply to the petitioner's case, then it is clear that Rule 2 is not meant to apply to such a case.

Rule 2 (a) is evidently intended to apply to cases where a civil right of the definite value of five hundred pounds or upwards is in question between two parties.

Counsel for the petitioner further suggested that the application might be considered under Rule 2 (b) as involving a question which by reason of its great general or public importance or otherwise ought to be submitted to His Majesty-in-Council for decision.

The Court however holds that the above reasoning applies equally to the second clause of Rule 2 as to the first, and that in a case like the present no leave can be granted. The Court is further of the opinion that no question is involved in this case such as is there meant. That clause of the rule applies to matters of great general or public importance. Questions of fact can rarely come within that category.

The decision of the Court therefore on this petition is that it has no power under the Rules to grant leave to appeal to His Majesty-in-Council from the order made.

NOTICE.

IT is hereby notified that all vehicles conveying passengers to the Race Course in New Amsterdam on the 22nd April, must proceed along Strand or Main Road, then through Essex or Vryheid Streets, and approach the Race Stands from the north, and deposit their passengers at the gates leading into the Race Course, after which they must not turn round on the Backdam, but may proceed down any of the side streets south of the stand. No vehicle will be allowed to remain on the Backdam road during the races. Vehicles must form up on the Backdam facing north awaiting their passengers, but not until 5 o'clock and they must be south of St. Ann Street, keeping to the west side of the road; in succession they will come to the gates for their passengers, and then depart north turning west into Essex or Vryheid Streets.

It is to be hoped that all owners of vehicles will give every assistance in carrying out these Regulations so as to avoid confusion which would otherwise result owing to the very narrow backdam and roads approaching the Race Course.

These Regulations are made by the Inspector General of Police under Section 160 of Ordinance No. 17 of 1893, this 16th day of April, 1912.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 16TH DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

versus
MENDES.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District, who, in an action brought by respondent to recover $10 as damages and pecuniary compensation for having left a house rented to her at $6 per month without giving legal notice, gave judgment in respondent's favour for $6 and costs.

The respondent does not appear and the grounds of appeal are that the decision is unwarranted by the evidence and wrong in law.

The only evidence before the Magistrate is that of the respondent, who says that he rented the premises to appellant—who told him that her husband was in Colon—on 15th September, at a monthly tenancy at $6 per month. That she paid $3 at end of September and left on 31st October, having paid another $3 at end of that month.

In cross-examination he admits that he received the key at 8.30 p.m. on 31st October, and that he rented the premises to a new tenant on 15th November, and that the $3 paid in September was paid to complete that month. In order to terminate the tenancy there must be something more than the mere acceptance of the key. The surrrounding circumstances should show the taking of possession by the landlord when he accepted the key, not necessarily a physical taking but what would amount to an virtual taking of possession. The evidence that he accepted the key without demur and that he relet the premises within 15 days, shows an intention on his part to put an end to the tenancy as from 31st October. At that date there was a balance of $3 due on account of rent. The present action is one for damages for having left the premises without giving legal notice to quit, and this $3 having accrued due before the termination of the tenancy, cannot be recovered in the present action.

Appeal allowed and judgment given for the appellant with costs.

M. J. BERKELEY, Acting C.J.

D'ORNELLAS
versus SEELIG.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District who non-suited the appellant in an action brought by him trading without any partner under the name of "Seelig & Coy." whereby he claimed $21.43, being balance due as shown by bill of particulars attached.

The respondent does not appear and the ground of appeal is that the decision is erroneous in point of law for the reasons set out in the notice of appeal.

The only evidence is that of the appellant who says that the respondent was the Manager of his business and was paid by commission on the sales, that respondent kept the books (which were checked by him), and was not liable for any losses, that before respondent left his service on 25th February they went into the accounts on that day together and that he promised to pay the $21.43 which was then found to be due. In cross-examination he admits that respondent has not been credited with his share of profits (if any) between 12th February (the last day stock was taken) and 25th February when he left without notice. The books produced tend to confirm this evidence and on the face of them appear to have been properly kept in the ordinary course of business.

On the notes of evidence and immediately after the appellant's evidence appear these words "Defence Nil." It would seem therefore that the Magistrate non-suited appellant after having called on respondent for his defence.

The Magistrate gives as his reason for his decision that he does not consider the unsupported evidence of the plaintiff and the documents he produces sufficient to prove satisfactorily the amount of the debt claimed. Now the evidence of the appellant is supported by the entries in the books produced and in the absence of any defence it would seem that the appellant is entitled to judgment.

The appeal is allowed and judgment entered for the appellant for $21.43 with costs.

M. J. BERKELEY, Actg. C.J.

versus
COMMISSIONER OF LANDS AND MINES, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the West Coast Judicial District, who, in a claim made by the respondent for $40 due and owing for 4 months' rent to 31st July, 1911, of colony land at Plantation Hague, situate in the district aforesaid, gave judgment for the respondent with costs.

The reasons of appeal are: (1) that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction; (2) that the decision is erroneous in point of law; (3) that the decision is unwarranted by the evidence.

As to 1.—Under section 3 (4) of Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893, the Court has jurisdiction; (a) when the defendant resides in the district, or (b) when the cause of action has arisen wholly or in part within the district; or (c) when the chattel or thing which is the subject-matter of the action is in the district.

Mr. Trotman, an Officer of the Lands and Mines Department, in the course of his evidence said "he (appellant) lives at Den Amstel Village in the West Coast Judicial District." It appears that counsel for the appellant submitted after the case for the respondent (then plaintiff) was closed, that no jurisdiction had been proved inasmuch as the plaint alleged that Plantation Hague was in the West Coast Judicial District, and the plaintiff had failed to prove this fact whereupon the Magistrate recalled Mr. Trotman and allowed him to prove jurisdiction as alleged in the plaint. In the opinion of the Court jurisdiction is proved when the evidence establishes one of the three alternatives referred to in section 3 (4) of the Ordinance. It was therefore unnecessary for the Magistrate to recall the witness. The Court, however, is asked to express an opinion as to whether or not a witness should be recalled to prove jurisdiction when a plaintiff's case having been closed it is submitted in behalf of the defence that the action must be dismissed on that ground.

A Magistrate like a Judge of the Supreme Court has the power of his own motion to recall a witness and to examine him as he sees fit. I do not think the Court should set a limit to his discretion which he is entitled at any time during the proceedings to exercise with a view of throwing more light on the case. As said by Lord Chelmsford in Sheddon, et al vs. Attorney General, et al. (22, L.T.N.S., 633), it is a discretion "usually exercised with great caution, on account of the obvious danger of the proposed evidence being skilfully applied to supply any deficiencies which might have been left out in the case." By section 9 (1) of the Magistrates Decisions (Appeals) Ordinance (13 of 1893), the fact that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction is one of the reasons in respect of which an appeal is allowed and it is the only one to which a proviso is attached, viz, that the Appeal Court shall not entertain such reason unless objection has been formally taken during the progress of the case and before the pronouncing of the decision. If therefore after a plaintiff's case is closed and Counsel for the defence formally takes the objection the Magistrate recalls a witness to remove that objection, he in fact deprives an appellant of one of the reasons of appeal allowed him by the statute and it would be therefore a wrongful exercise of his discretionary power.

As to reason 2. It is argued that the respondent cannot recover for rent as appellant had never agreed to rent from him. The evidence shows that the appellant was a monthly tenant of certain land on the Plantation Hague at the time it became the property of the Colony, and that he continued to occupy the land during the months in respect of which rent is claimed. On 25th May, he wrote to the respondent: "Sir,—I ask you for the lest of the pasture at Plantation Hague for $10 per month which is on the back dam for the same pasture I have been lest it from the State for the same amount." In the opinion of the Court this letter was an intimation to the respondent that he consented to hold as tenant of the new proprietors and thereby attorned to them. By this act he put the Colony in the place of the late owners as his landlord and thereby continued to hold upon the same terms as he held of his former landlord (Holroyd, J., in Cornish, vs. Searell, 8 Barnwall and Cresswell page 476). It is not an agreement for a new tenancy on terms and conditions different to those hitherto enjoyed.

Section 10 of Ordinance 31 of 1903, provides that lands, the property of the colony, suall only be rented or sold with the sanction of the Governor-in-Council. It is argued that the contract (if any) between the appellant and respondent was void as no such sanction was previously obtained. The notes of evidence show that this case was before the Magistrate for the first time on 8th January, 1912, when the evidence of Mr. Trotman was taken and the further hearing adjourned to 15th January, when it was further postponed to 5th February, "for further evidence by Mr. Trotman." It was then that evidence was given of the ratification and approval on 19th January, by the Governor-in-Council of the lease of the land in question for 4 months. It is clear that this ratification and approval was obtained for the purposes of this case and no subsequent ratification can cure an omission of what was a condition precedent. The present case, however, is not within the provisions of section 10 of the Ordinance which refers to land rented, that is the property of the colony when so rented and not to a case like the present where a tenant in possession attorns to his new landlord. Reason 3 is dealt with in the course of this judgment.

The appeal is dismissed and the decision of the Magistrate confirmed with costs.

Government Notices.

Government Secretary's Office,
Georgetown, Demerara,
160. 23rd April, 1912.

THE following Bill, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

J. HAMPDEN KING,
Acting Government Secretary.

THE COPYRIGHT (FOREIGN REPRINTS REPEAL) BILL, 1912.

Explanatory Memorandum.

By the Books (Foreign Reprints) Importation Ordinance, 1851, (No. 3 of 1851) provision was made for the admission into this Colony of foreign reprints of copyright works. If the owner of the copyright had registered his work at Stationers Hall under the Imperial Copyright Act, 1842 (5 and 6, Vict. c. 45) an ad valorem duty of twenty per cent. was imposed on the importation of foreign reprints of his works, but if he had not so registered his works, foreign reprints were admitted free.

The law as to copyright was amended and consolidated by the Copyright Act, 1911, passed by the Imperial Parliament last year. That Act applies to this Colony among other British Possessions, and by section fourteen provision is made for the importation of reprints of copyright works. Under that section the owner of the copyright can give notice to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise that he desires that such reprints shall not be imported and thereupon their importation is prohibited.

As the Books (Foreign Reprints) Importation Ordinance, 1851, conflicts with the above provision of the new Act, which Act it may be noted enacts as nearly as possible a uniform copyright law for the whole British Empire, it is necessary to repeal the Ordinance in order to give effect to it, and that is done by this Bill.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REPEAL THE "BOOKS (FOREIGN REPRINTS) IMPORTATION ORDIN- "ANCE, 1851."

Whereas by an Act passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the first and second years of the reign of His present Majesty, entitled "An Act to amend and consolidate the law relating to Copyright" it was among other things enacted that copies made out of the United Kingdom of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in the United Kingdom would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into the United Kingdom, shall not be so imported, and that the above provision with the necessary modifications shall apply to the importation into a British possession to which the said Act extends of copies of works made out of that possession;

And whereas the said Act extends to this Colony;

And whereas in order to give effect to the said Act in this Colony it is expedient to repeal an Ordinance passed in the year 1851 entitled "An Ordinance to authorize the importation into this Colony of books, being foreign reprints of books first composed, written, printed, or published in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and in which there is Copyright:"

BE it therefore enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows:—

Repeal of Ord. No. 3 of 1851.

1. The Books (Foreign Reprints) Importation Ordinance, 1851 is hereby repealed.

Amendment of Schedule 1 to Ord. No. 7 of 1884.

2. The words "not being foreign reprints imported according to the provisions of the Books (Foreign Reprints) Importation Ordinance, 1851," in clause one of the Table of Prohibitions and Restrictions inwards in the First Schedule to the Customs Ordinance, 1884, as amended by section twenty-six of the Customs Ordinance, 1884, Amendment Ordinance, 1911, are hereby repealed.

Short Title and commencement.

3. This Ordinance may be cited as the Copyright (Foreign Reprints Repeal) Ordinance, 1912, and shall come into operation upon such day as the Governor shall notify by Proclamation.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 16TH DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

versus
GASKIN.

This is an appeal from a decision by the Magistrate of the East Coast Judicial District who gave judgment of dismissal on a claim by the appellant for damages.

The reasons of appeal are:

(1) that the decision is erroneous in point of law.

(a) because the plantiff having sworn to the agreement between himself and Gaskin personally and this evidence not having been denied by the defendant who was present, the Magistrate was bound to find for the plaintiff.

(b) because the plaintiff having sworn that the defendant offered him 7 bags of rice in pursuance of his said agreement and promised to deliver the balance later which testimony was not denied by the defendant the Magistrate was bound to find for the plaintiff.

(c) because the Solicitor for the plaintiff claiming a non-suit was in the circumstances an admission of liability and the Magistrate was wrong in dismissing the claim.

(d) because apart from the specific agreement with the defendant as sworn to by the plaintiff and which is not denied, the offer by the defendant of 7 bags of paddy would be a sufficient ratification by him of his said act in the absence of further proof to the contrary.

Reasons 1 (a), (b) and (d) all proceed on the assumption that plaintiff having sworn to certain occurences, and defendant not having gone into the witness box to deny these statements, the Magistrate was bound to accept them as correct, but the evidence of Kajeram and Pateeram, both witnesses for the plaintiff, are not at all in accord with the evidence of the plaintiff, and this, no doubt, as the Court gathers from the Magistrate's reasons, together with the evidence of the defendant's clerk, was quite sufficient to entitle the Magistrate to give judgment for the defendant.

Digitized by Google

Reason 1 (c) was not argued, nor could the Court hold that claiming a non-suit at the close of a plaintiff's case could possibly be held to be an admission of liability on the part of the defendant.

Reason 2 is that the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence in like manner as if the case had been tried by a jury there would not have been sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict. Such a reason is not applicable in any proceeding, either civil or criminal, where there has been a dismissal.

The decision of the Magistrate is affirmed with costs.

J. K. DARRELL HILL, Actg. J.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 18TH DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

B. H. HO-A-HING
M. J. DE FREITAS.

In this case the defendant was, as bailee, in possession of a boat belonging to one D'Andrade. He let the boat on hire to one Camacho. Camacho wrongfully sold it to the plaintiff and the boat came into plaintiff's possession. Camacho had no right to sell the boat. He was not, in any sense, owner thereof or in possession with power of sale. The plaintiff acquired no better title than Camacho had. The defendant, without recourse to law, recovered possession of the boat. The plaintiff now claims from the defendant the delivery of the boat as being wrongfully and illegally detained by the defendant.

Before plaintiff can recover in this action, he must show that he has a right as against the defendant to the possession of the boat. He has failed to do so.

The judgment of the learned Magistrate in the Court below was right and the appeal is dismissed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 22ND DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

DODSON.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Georgetown Judicial District who on a complaint made by the respondent, a Sergeant-Major of Police, that appellant did unlawfully assault one Benjamin Beckles so as to cause him actual bodily harm (s. 35 (1) of No. 17 of 1893) convicted the appellant and ordered him to be imprisoned for 4 months with hard labour.

The reasons of appeal are that the decision is erroneous in law and on the merits.

The reasons are not and cannot be seriously argued and it is admitted that the real reason of appeal is to ask the Court to modify the order by imposing a fine and ordering compensation under s. 43 (2) of Ord. No. 12 of 1893, so that appellant may escape imprisonment. The Solicitor General, who appears for the respondent, states that this course will meet with his approval provided the Court can see its way to adopt it. The section referred to above empowers a Magistrate to order compensation to be paid in every case where an order is made against a defendant. The only order that could be made (apart from the conviction) in the present case is that of peremptory imprisonment not exceeding 6 months. It might be nominal imprisonment on payment of reasonable compensation but there is no provision for imposing a fine in lieu of imprisonment.

As to the merits of the case Dr. Douglas, who describes Beckles as an old man, speaks to his having a fracture of a bone of his right forearm which, in his opinion, was caused by a heavy blow. The evidence establishes that Beckles was walking along Howes Street, Georgetown, on the night of 1st March, when appellant, without the least provocation, gave him a blow with a heavy stick which caused this fracture. He at once made his escape and was not arrested until a week later when he endeavoured to prove an alibi. It is stated by counsel that appellant's anger had been aroused by an untrue statement made by Beckles with regard to him. If this was so it is no excuse for an assault under the circumstances set out.

This Court is of opinion that it should not countenance appeals brought ostensibly on the grounds allowed by law but with a view of having a decision modified on some ground not a ground of appeal under the Ordinance.

On the evidence the term of imprisonment imposed cannot be regarded as out of all proportion to the offence committed but the fact that the appellant is a young man of about 20 years of age and that the injured man is prepared to accept compensation may be urged in his behalf in the proper quarter as reasons for a reduction of the sentence.

Under the circumstances set out this Court will not interfere with the decision of the Magistrate.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

versus FERNANDES.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the East Coast Judicial District who convicted the appellant of exposing his person in an indecent manner in a yard open to public view (s. 170 (2) of Ord. 17 of 1893).

The respondent does not appear and the reasons argued are (1) that the evidence does not establish that it was done in an indecent manner and (2) that the yard was open to public view. With regard to the first reason it was intimated from the Bench at the hearing there was evidence which justified this finding. With regard to the second reason the evidence shows that the indecent exposure which was of frequent occurrence was seen by several persons from the gallery of the respondent's house which is situate on the opposite side of the road to the yard where the exposure took place. It is not necessary that the exposure should be seen from any public place or public road but if seen by persons from a house in the neighbourhood this is an exposure to public view (Regina v. Thallman, 33 L.J. 58).

Appeal dismissed. No order made as to costs, respondent not appearing.

RUGHOOBARSING AND GOORDOO, Appellants,
versus
PARRATT, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Berbice Judicial District who convicted the appellants of having been found in poesession of a dark brown heifer calf under circumstances of suspicion (sec. 97 of Ord. No. 17 of 1893.)

The respondent does not appear and the reasons for appeal are: (1) that the decision is unwarranted by the evidence; (2) that it is erroneous in point of law; (3) that specific illegalities have been committed in the course of the proceedings; (4) that illegal evidence has been admitted. This last reason refers to the admission of certain evidence as to the marks on the calf—the animal itself not having been produced—the respondent says it disappeared from the pen on 30th November, hence its non-production. The evidence of those who saw the marks on the animal is clearly admissible. Reason 3 is abandoned by counsel. As to reason 1, Matthews says that on 24th September, he saw a calf with a rope round its neck and that it had respondent's ear-mark, that it ran away on his going to catch it, that he caught it on 27th September, and that next morning No. 2 defendant, who is the son of No. 1, claimed it as the property of his father and himself, and said that he and one Payne had cut its ears, that it disappeared on that day and was seen by him on the following day tied at No. 1 defendant's house, that he went with Gibbons to appellant's place when No. 2 showed him where he had the calf tied. Gibbons speaks to having marked the calf and to seeing it tied on No. 1's land when he told No. 2 defendant that he was searching for it and that No. 2 loosed it and that he (witness) took it away and sent it to the Police Station by Garret. Garret confirms this witness as to No. 2 defendant showing them the calf and allowing it to be removed. The respondent speaks to sending Matthews to make enquiry and says that during his absence No. 1 defendant brought him a letter and said that if the calf was his, he would give it to him. The letter is written by one E. B. Gordon to respondent and is as follows: "I have seen Rugbersing (that is No. 1 defendant) about the calf Matthews reported he had branded belonging to you, and she says, although he is positive the calf belongs to him, he is willing to abide by whatever you decide after seeing the calf so I have advised him to go and see you personally and explain matters." The evidence for the respondent further shows that in addition to the ear-marks the calf was freshly branded $\frac{F.R.}{10}$ when seen on No. 1 defendant's land on 28th September, and that the brand was not that of the respondent. It also shows that No. 1 defendant has cattle and that they get away from time to time.

This is the case for the respondent (then complainant) before the Magistrate.

The section under which this charge is brought requires that the animal be found "under circumstances of suspicion," in the possession of a defendant, and this being proved it lies then on him to satisfy the Court that he came lawfully by it. The conduct of the two defendants as detailed by the witnesses for the respondent, as well as the letter written by Gordon and sent by No. 1 defendant show a bona fide belief on their part that the calf in question was their property. The only circumstance which might be regarded as suspicious is the branding of the calf after getting it back on 27th September, but in face of the rest of the evidence it could not be presumed that this was done to prevent identification and as there is evidence which points to its having got away on 24 h September, it may well be that in an honest belief that it belonged to them the defendants placed their brand on it when recovered on 27th.

The Magistrate, in his decision, relies to a great extent on certain discrepancies in the evidence of the two defendants. This, however, as pointed out was not properly before him.

In the opinion of this Court, there was not evidence of suspicious circumstances which warranted the calling on the defendants to satisfy the Court and it would seem that the ownership of the calf ought to have been settled by a civil action and not a criminal prosecution. It is unnecessary to deal with reason 2.

Appeal is allowed and the decision of the Magistrate quashed with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

THIS 25TH DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

In re application of JOHN CARLTON BRYDEN for a Rule against Stipendiary Magistrate MANBY and A. N. HEADLEY.

In this case a Rule nisi was granted calling on the Magistrate and the said Headley to shew cause why (a) the Magistrate should not hear and adjudicate upon an information taken before him on 29th February, 1912, that the said A. N. Headley on or about the 20th February, 1912, within the Georgetown Judicial District being employed as servant of Sprostons, Ltd., did fraudulently embezzle a sum of money, to wit $6 received by him for his said employers, Sprostons, Limited, or why (b) the said Magistrate should not direct the above-mentioned case to be transferred to the Court having jurisdiction where the cause of complaint arose.

On 7th March, 1912, the case came before the Magistrate, evidence was taken and the case dismissed on the ground that he had no jurisdiction.

In our opinion, the applicant has followed the right procedure in applying for a rule and not appealing. The test seems to be did the Magistrate hold that whatever the merits of the case, whether the defendant was guilty or not, he could not decide on the merits owing to the want of jurisdiction. He did so hold and such holding is a declining of jurisdiction and not an adjudication.

It appears that the defendant was the mate on board one of the Sprostons' steamers which runs daily from Georgetown to Suddie and back stopping at certain intermediate ports. That it is no part of his duty to collect fares but he is to see that passengers have tickets and where he finds a person on board without one to take that person to the purser in order that he may get one. That he has been known, however, lately to take money to the purser and buy a ticket for a passenger. That he told passengers on 20th February, at Leguan, that he would give them tickets on board, that he reckoned them and charged 30s. 6d. which was paid to him. That after leaving Aurora he gave 5s. 6d. to the purser and told him that was the money he had collected from passengers without tickets, and that on 28th February, at the Company's Office in Georgetown on being told by the Secretary of the Company that he had received a certain report and being asked for an explanation he said that he had collected 5s. 6d. That on being told information had been received as to 30 people joining the steamer at Leguan without tickets he said he only knew of 5s. 6d. he had collected, thus denying in the Georgetown Judicial District, as stated by the Magistrate, the receipt of the $6.

The Magistrate is of opinion that when defendant handed the 5s. 6d. to the purser he completed the act of embezzlement and that therefore he had no jurisdiction. In Regina vs. Taylor (Leach's C. C. Vol. 2, p. 974) the prisoner was sent from Middlesex by his master into Surrey with 100 herrings to one Mrs. Stevens who paid him 10s for them. On his return he said he had not been paid. After 3 weeks the Master discovered he had been paid. At his trial it was contended that the whole offence had been completed and ended in Surrey and that he could only be tried in that county. The case was considered by twelve Judges who were unanimous in opinion that the prisoner could be tried in Middlesex there being no evidence whatever that until he came to account with his master he had ever come to a determination to appropriate that money to his own use, so that there was not expressly or impliedly any proof of his having done any act by which he could have embezzled his master's money before he came into Middlesex.

In Regina vs. Rogers (Q.B.D., p. 28) it was held by four Judges, Huddleston B. dissenting, that the receipt of a letter in Middlesex was sufficient to give jurisdiction in that county. The prisoner in this letter made a statement by which he intended it to be understood that he had not received money actually received by him. The letter was written and posted in Yorkshire to his employers in Middlesex and Field, J., says "he might have been well tried in Yorkshire but that is not the question before us. The question is whether there was jurisdiction to try him in Middlesex, in other words, was a material part of the crime committed in Middlesex? If a complete embezzlement had been proved in Yorkshire, no part of which was committed in Middlesex, a different question would have arisen." In that case the first evidence of complete embezzlement was the letter written and posted in Yorkshire and the evidence of embezzlement in that county would have been the same letter.

The decisions in these cases point to the conclusion that when a prisoner receives money in one county and fails to account for it in another, he can be tried in either county. The false accounting or denial which is a material part of the crime committed being the first act from which the jury could with certainty say that the prisoner intended to embezzle.

To apply this to the case now before the Court. If no payment had been made to the purser and the prisoner had denied in Georgetown the payment to him of the fares it is clear in our opinion that the Magistrate of Georgetown would have had jurisdiction but the payment to the purser of 5s. 6d. (a part of the sum so collected) at Aurora in the North Essequebo Judicial District with the statement that that was the money he had collected amount to a denial and this denial coupled with the fact that the defendant told the passengers that he would give them tickets on board is evidence on which a jury could with certainty say that the defendant intended to embezzle the balance of $6 remaining unpaid at the time he paid the 5s. 6d. As stated in Taylor's case we have here acts denoting an embezzlement of money and the completion of the offence in the North Essequebo Judicial District. That is, a complete embezzlement has been proved in that District. On this ground, therefore, the appellant cannot succeed.

With regard to the second ground of this application we are of opinion that under section 32 (1) of Ord. No. 12 of 1893 the word "may" confers on the Magistrate an authority to do a judicial act in a certain case, and it is imperative on him to exercise that authority when the case arises and its exercise is duly applied for by a party entitled to make the application. The rule, therefore, must be made absolute on this ground.

The Court is asked to express its opinion as to whether or not applications such as the present one need be made before the Full Court. Section 46 of Ord. 13 of 1893, under which these applications are made refers to the "Court" and under section 2 the word "Court" means the "Supreme Court of British Guiana." By section 11 of Ord. No. 7 of 1893, it is provided that "unless the contrary is in any case expressly provided by this or any other statute all the jurisdiction and powers of the Court shall be vested in and may be exercised by the Full Court. There is no express provision in the statute under which applications like the present are made, and, therefore, we are of opinion that the practice which has hitherto prevailed is the correct one.

Under the circumstances of this case no costs are allowed.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 27TH DAY OF APRIL, 1912.

PHILLIPS
DUBLIN.

The plaintiff in this matter asks the Court to restrain the defendant from passing a transport advertised by him to and in favour of John Correia of the east one-third lot 46, section B, east one-third lot 23, section A, east one-third lot 48, section C, east one-third lot 27, section D, and east one-third lot 45, section G, which together form one-third of a share in the village of Buxton, the aforesaid lots and portions of lots being laid down in a diagram of the Sworn Land Surveyor Matthew Newlands, dated September, 1851, and deposited in the office of the Registrar of Demerary and Essequibo. The plaintiff further claims an order of the Court declaring the opposition to the passing of the transport to be just, legal, and well-founded, and also $200 as damages (but this was in effect abandoned at the hearing) and the costs of the proceedings.

Plaintiff is admitted to be the niece of Ellen, also called Eleanor, Jeffrey, deceased, born McKenzie, the said Ellen Jeffrey and Agnes McKenzie, the mother of the plaintiff, being sisters of the whole blood and the sole issue of their parents. It would seem, however, that this was not so, from Hannah Phillips' evidence, as she speaks of Eleanor Jeffrey, and Agnes McKenzie having two brothers one of whom died unmarried and the other, who was married, had no issue. This, however, does not affect the question.

It may be well to state here also that this suit was originally begun in the name of John Phillips, the husband of the present plaintiff, but John Phillips having died the Court granted leave to Hannah Phillips, the present plaintiff, to carry on the action on her own behalf, and for the heirs of John Phillips.

It appears from the evidence that one Friday Alias, who is admitted by the defence (see para. 2 (4) of the claim and para. 3 of the defence) to have been the owner of the lands sought to be transported, left by his will to Jonathan Dublin, the father of the defendant, and to Ellen Jeffrey, the aunt of the present plaintiff, his "six roods and three-quarters of land, lots No. 23, "section A, No. 46, section B, with dwelling house, "No. 48, section C, No. 27, section D, No. 45, section "G, being parts and parcels of the lands of Planta-"tion New Orange Nassau, now Buxton Village, "with all other my property of whatsoever denomi-"nation."

It also appears from the evidence of Ogle, that Dublin, the elder, was never possessed of any other land near the railway line than lot 46, and from the evidence of Philadelphia that after Alias's death Dublin took possession of lot 46.

It is, therefore, clear from these documents and from the above evidence that the submission by Counsel for the defendant that the plaintiff has not shown that the lands sought to be transported are the same or part of the lands left to Dublin, the elder, and Ellen Jeffrey, the plaintiff's aunt by Alias, cannot be upheld. By Alias's will Dublin, the elder, and Ellen Jeffrey were appointed executor and executrix. Alias died on 13th February, 1863, and on 21st January, 1865, Dublin, the elder, himself deposited the will. It is important to bear this in mind as relative to the quality in which Dublin took possession of lot 46—in view of the defence which alleges ownership by prescription on the part of the Dublins—although in arguing the case Counsel for the defendant, more or less, appeared inclined to depart from his strict pleading by suggestions of some sort of "gift" or "abandonment" of her share on the part of Ellen Jeffrey to Dublin, the elder, equivalent of "ouster", although the Court is bound to say such suggestions were quite unsupported by any evidence from which it might have presumed "ouster."

The Court has no hesitation in concluding that

Digitized by Google

Dublin, the elder, entered into possession, after Alias's death, as an heir, the other co-heir being Ellen Jeffrey. Plaintiff's title through Ellen Jeffrey has been satisfactorily shown. But whether Dublin, the elder, entered as an heir, or with any secret intention of benefiting at Ellen Jeffrey's expense does not really affect this question. Entering into possession and having a lawful title to enter (known to him, as is shown by his deposit of the will which gave him that title, and through which he would have known that Ellen Jeffrey was his co-heir) he could not divest himself of that title by pretending that he had no title at all. His title must have enured for the benefit of his co-proprietor. The principle recognised by Wood, V.C., in Thomas vs. Thomas (2 Kay & Johnson, 79) holds good. "Possession is never considered adverse if it can be referred to a lawful title." His possession was in law the possession of Ellen Jeffrey as well and even if it had been his intention to defraud her, which on the evidence for the plaintiff seems to be not shown, it was still not possible for him to put an end to that possession by any secret intention in his mind. Nothing short of "ouster" or something equivalent to "ouster" could bring about that result, and the Court cannot find anything on the facts sworn to, to entitle it to say that Ellen Jeffrey could be presumed to have been ousted in favour of the Dublins.

The defence of prescriptive right, therefore, must fail and the plaintiff having made out her title is entitled to the relief she asks for. The Court, therefore, restrains the defendant from passing the transport as advertised and declares the opposition to be just, legal, and well-founded, with costs. The value of the property is admitted to be $300.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 3RD DAY OF MAY, 1912.

T. W. HARRIS & CO., AND T. W. HARRIS
versus
JOSHUA RAMPHUL.

In this case T. W. Harris, trading as T. W. Harris & Co claims (1) from the defendant $387.54 for goods sold and delivered (2) as T. W. Harris simply for $1,920 for services rendered at the rate of $80 per month to the defendant as book-keeper.

The defendant admits that he owes T. W. Harris & Co. $387.54 for goods sold but says that the plaintiff cannot succeed in this action as he sued for the same before the period allowed for credit expired.

As regards the second item in the claim the defendant admits that the plaintiff served him as book-keeper, but denies that he agreed to pay a salary for the same.

He says the said services were rendered for other considerations, which are set forth in his statement of defence.

On the first item the only question which arises is whether the period of credit had expired before the action was brought. The plaintiff started the action by writ dated the 1st February, 1912, and the item is for goods supplied during the previous month up to and including January 24th. On the 27th January, five days before the issue of the writ, the plaintiff through his solicitor sent a letter of demand for the sum of $387.54 to the defendant. It is quite clear on the evidence in this case that in all the previous dealings of plaintiff with defendant, the defendant paid quarterly for goods supplied during the previous quarter; and the defendant further gives evidence that the transactions were "quarterly transactions." The plaintiff contradicts this, and claims that though he undoubtedly gave credit (the transactions not being cash transactions), he could sue at any time. In other words he claims that the credit given was purely at his will, and that he could revoke the credit whenever he pleased. On this evidence, there being no written evidence bearing on the question, the Court decides in favour of the defendant, holding that for the goods supplied in January the plaintiff gave credit until the quarter expired on March 31st.

On the claim therefore for goods supplied the plaintiff is non-suited.

On the claim for $1,920 for services rendered many witnesses including the parties have been called on one side or the other.

The evidence given is so contradictory that the Court cannot resist the conclusion that there has been much perjury in the case. It would serve no good purpose to go through the evidence in detail.

The Court is satisfied that the evidence of the plaintiff and his witnesses is quite unreliable. There are many circumstances which show that the plaintiff never even thought of the claim which he has made until after he had quarelled with the defendant at the end of October last. It is not clear that he even thought of such a claim before the end of December last, and even in the letter of his solicitor dated January 27th this year demanding $387.54 for goods supplied, there is no mention of the further claim for services rendered. The plaintiff himself never made any entry about it in the books which he kept, though according to his story it must have been a debt growing larger from month to month during most of the time when he was book-keeper. It is clear too on the evidence of Carl Wieting, Senior, and Joseph Kidd that at the meeting of some of Ramphul's creditors at the office of Wieting and Richter in December last, the plaintiff, though present and asked what his position was, said nothing about any claim for salary. Christopher Henry Bagot, the Sub-Manager of the British Guiana Bank at Berbice, says that he was familliar with the financial transactions of Harris, Ramphul and Saywack, and often saw them, and yet never heard of the plaintiff claiming salary until the very end of December or the beginning of January last. It need only be stated further that it is quite clear that the plaintiff received such an amount of valuable consideration from the defendant in other ways, that there is nothing unreasonable in coming to the conclusion that the defendant's story is true, and that plaintiff was rendering his services as book-keeper in return for those considerations and not for salary. On the claim for services rendered the Court gives judgment for the defendant.

The plaintiff therefore loses on the whole of his claim and the defendant will get from the plaintiff full costs to be taxed.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 3RD DAY OF MAY, 1912.

FERREIRA
versus
BIRCH, SUB. I. OF POLICE.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Berbice Judicial District, who on a complaint made against the appellant for that he being the owner of a certain shop and not having closed the said shop on Friday, 23rd February, 1912, at one o'clock, p.m., did keep employed in the said shop a selling clerk, to wit, Manoel A. Gomes, after the hour of one o'clock. p.m., on Saturday, 24th February, 1912, contrary to law.

The reasons of appeal are (1) that the decision is altogether unwarranted by the evidence, (2) that illegal evidence has been admitted, (3) that the decision is erroneous in point of law, (4) that the Magistrate's Court exceeded its jurisdiction and (5) that some other specific illegality substantially affecting the merits of the case has been committed. Under each of these five heads the different grounds on which these reasons are founded—such grounds in one case numbering twenty-four—are set out.

The evidence establishes, independently of that of the Commissary which, in the opinion of the Court, ought not to have been admitted under the circumstances set out, that the shop in question is the provision shop of the appellant, that goods were sold therefrom after 1 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday, the 23rd and 24th February, 1912, by one Gomes who is alleged in the complaint to be a selling clerk, that an assistant clerk named Elias got his half holiday on the Friday, that the wages paid to Gomes were $12 per month and 10 per cent. of the profits, that he paid no accounts but sent to appellant's head establishment for goods required. The witness Gomes also says that appellant gave him no order to close the shop and that appellant sometimes leaves New Amsterdam for the week-end and he describes himself as "in charge of shop" and as "manager of shop" owned by appellant.

The substantial grounds of appeal argued by Counsel are that Gomes was the Manager of the business and not a selling clerk, that if even he was a selling clerk it is necessary for the prosecution to show that appellant required him to sell during prohibited hours, that without the fiat of the Attorney General the prosecution could not be undertaken by the respondent. It is also submitted that the reasons of appeal cover the point as to whether or not the complaint discloses any offence. It is doubtful if this is so but as the point is raised the Court is disposed to deal with it.

The Ordinance (No. 23 of 1911) was enacted to ensure to selling clerks a half holiday in each week either on the Saturday or Friday at the option of the proprietor and it provides that on such half holiday no selling clerk shall be employed after the hour of 1 p.m. Section 7 renders the proprietor or his attorney agent or manager liable to a penalty if he shall keep employed or cause to be kept employed any such clerk in contravention of the Ordinance. No penalty is provided for the non-closing of a shop and therefore the words "and not having closed the said shop on Friday, 23rd February, 1912, at one o'clock, p.m." in the complaint are surplusage.

In the opinion of the Court there is without these words a description of the offence which is sufficient in law. In the course of the trial the evidence tended to show that the option had been exercised by the selection of Friday as the day for the half holiday and not Saturday as stated in the complaint. This variance between the complaint and the evidence is not material and if the appellant had been deceived or misled thereby the Court could have amended the complaint and if necessary have adjourned the case (sect. 97 of No. 12 of 1893.) It is not suggested, and in fact it could not be, that the appellant was misled as to the nature of the offence with which he was charged.

The words "agent, manager" as used in this Ordinance seem to refer to a person invested with similar powers to those that a proprietor himself would have and exercise, that is, entire control of the business. In the present case the witness Gomes did not have such entire control. Goods could only be obtained from the appellant's head establishment and these were entered into a book open to his inspection. The appellant himself had such control of the business and the Court is of opinion that the Magistrate was correct in finding as a fact that the witness Gomes was a selling clerk.

As to its being incumbent on the prosecution to prove that the appellant required Gomes to sell during prohibited hours the fact that a selling clerk who is employed in the appellant's usual course of business as a shopkeeper is found to be kept employed in prohibited hours is evidence that he was so kept employed by his master, but if the act was shown to be that of the clerk himself looking to the fact that the master made a profit out of such illegal act it would seem that his liability would arise not by virtue of any express enactment but because to permit him under such circumstances to avail himself of a plea that he was ignorant of his clerk's act would be contrary to the spirit of the Ordinance (Pollock B. in Roberts vs. Woodward, 25 Q.B.D., p. 415).

There remains to be considered whether the fiat or order of the Attorney General was necessary before this prosecution could be undertaken.

The Ordinance makes no reference as to the institution of proceedings for an offence, it provides only the penalty to be imposed on summary conviction. It is open therefore to any member of the public to lodge a complaint. With regard to section 67 of the Police Ordinance, 1891, it refers as stated in the margin to the "General duties of the Force" and there is nothing which limits the powers of a member of the Force to the duties therein set out. Sub-section 3 (c) referred to by Counsel compels a member of the Force to prosecute when an order to that effect is made by the Governor, the Attorney General or the Inspector General. In such cases a member of the Force has no discretion. It would seem that under sub-section 7 it could be argued that a member of the Police Force has the duty imposed on him of bringing the present complaint.

Apart from this a member of the Police Force is to all intents and purposes as much a person within sec. 6 of Ord. 12 of 1893, as any other member of the community and as such has the right to make a complaint against any person committing a summary conviction offence.

The appeal is dismissed and the decision of the Magistrate confirmed with costs.

J. P. DE SOUZA
versus
J. R. McINROY AND B. O. SMITH, AS EXECUTORS

In this case the appellant who was plaintiff in the Court below sued the respondents for delivery of a "bicycle or the value thereof $60."

The facts of the case, so far as they need be stated here, are as follows:—Lee Hing & Co., by their attorney Edward Hing, got possession of the bicycle in question under a contract in writing with A. F. Chapman by which they promised to pay $55 for the bicycle, $15 in cash and the rest by instalments of not less than $6 per month, the bicycle to "be and remain the property" of the said A. F. Chapman or his assigns until the said sum of $55 was fully paid.

The present respondents are the assigns of A. F. Chapman, now deceased, and they have the same rights under the contract which A. F. Chapman had.

Lee Hing & Co. paid two instalments, one of $10 on June 19th, 1911, and the other of $6 on July 22nd, 1911, the total payments thus amounting to $31.

On July 20th, 1911, Lee Hing & Co. sold the bicycle to one Luiz Nunes or Luiz Nunes Xavier for the sum of $36.05 and in the written contract relating thereto they state that the bicycle was "the property of the said firm of Lee Hing & Co." This statement was untrue as by their contract with A. F. Chapman, the bicycle was still the property of A. F. Chapman. Xavier was not aware of this and after getting possession of the bicycle he on the 23rd August, 1911, sold the bicycle to the present appellant, Jose Pires de Souza, for the sum of $33, Xavier stating that the bicycle was his (Xavier's) bonâ fide property. The appellant thus acquired the bicycle and so far as the evidence shows he was a purchaser for value in good faith. Some time afterwards the appellant lent the bicycle to J. V. de Souza. The latter happened to take the bicycle into Chapman's store and Chapman through his agent Kippings seized the bicycle and kept it. Hence this action.

The question, therefore, which the Court has to decide is whether the respondents having forcibly recovered possession of what was and is undoubtedly their property can now be compelled by law to deliver the bicycle or its value to the appellant. On this question Roman Law, Roman-Dutch Law, English Law and several judgments of the Supreme Court of this colony have all been quoted by counsel on one side or the other. In my opinion, Roman or Roman-Dutch Law does not apply. I can find no authority therein dealing with the relative rights of two parties situated as these are with respect to goods. Moreover the contract between Chapman and Lee Hing & Co. speaks of the goods as being or remaining "the property" of the respondents. That expression, under the circumstances of this contract, can only be interpreted under English Law. A note in Voet's Pandects Book XVIII, Tit. i, § 24, Berwick's translation supports me in this view. The word "property" as used in this contract with all that it connotes has no equivalent in Roman-Dutch Law, whereas in English Law its meaning is more or less fixed having been the subject of many judicial decisions. I find further support for this view in the two local cases, Macquarrie vs. Cunningham, decided 13th June, 1902, and Laurence vs. Conyers, decided 14th July, 1908. Though questions bearing on the question to be decided in this case arose in those cases there is no reference to Roman-Dutch Law in either of the judgments. English Law is applied throughout. The Common Law of England must therefore be applied to this case.

If English Law, as enacted by the Factors Act, 1889, §§ 2 and 9, applied there would be no further difficulty (see Lee vs. Butler, Law Reports Q.B.D., 1893, 2) and the appellant would succeed. The appellant being a purchaser for value in good faith would have acquired a title valid against all the world, including even the real owner of the article.

Lord Esher, in his judgment in Lee vs. Butler, says, "Section 9 (i.e., of the Factors Act) was passed to meet this very kind of case." It must therefore be inferred that the Common Law did not meet such a case. To apply the Common Law unaffected by the statute the Court finds that there are two conflicting rights (1) the right of the real owner; (2) the right of the innocent purchaser for value.

The question is which right must prevail. In the case of Davson & Co. vs. Garnett & Co., Law Reports, British Guiana, N.S., vol. 1, p. 88, Chalmers, C.J., speaks of a "superior right which alone would enable" the defendants "to maintain the possession which they acquired forcibly." In this case the respondents have a "possession which they acquired forcibly." Is their right to maintain their possession superior to the right of the appellant to recover from them the possession or value by this action? The title of the respondents to the bicycle is without flaw. The title of the appellant is no better than the title of Lee Hing & Co. Their title, when they sold, was incomplete. It has remained incomplete and the appellant gets no better title. That being so, the Court, adapting the words of Chalmers, C.J., loc. cit., decides that the respondents have shown a superior right which enables them to maintain the possession which they acquired when they retook the bicycle.

The Court must, however, take notice of the forcible seizure by the respondents. Chalmers, C.J., says, in the case already quoted, "A forcible seizure is so repugnant to the spirit of the law that at one time if a man forcibly seized even what belonged to himself he thereby lost his property in the thing seized. This severity may be tempered now, but it is clear that no legal advantage can be gained by such a course."

In this case it was the duty of the respondents to have proceeded by law against the appellant to recover possession instead of forcibly seizing. Their conduct was such that the Court cannot encourage it. It ought rather to discourage it and it does so by depriving them of costs.

The appeal is therefore dismissed but without costs either in this Court or the Court below.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,
196. 14th May, 1912.

HIS Excellency the Acting Governor having occasion to be temporarily absent from the Seat of Government from this day's date, has, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon him by Letters Patent passed under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom and dated the 25th February, 1911, been pleased by an Instrument bearing date the 13th instant, under his hand and the Public Seal of the Colony, to constitute and appoint The Honourable John Hampden King, Acting Government Secretary to be his Deputy during such absence.

197. 14th May, 1912.

THE Deputy Governor has been pleased to appoint William Bridges, Esquire, acting Warden at Bartica, to be a Member of the Board of Guardians in the Essequibo River Fiscal District, vice Mr. J. Brumell, Jnr., who has left the district.

198. 14th May, 1912.

THE Deputy Governor has been pleased to approve of George Louis Beckles Gall, Esquire, Second Grade Commissary of Taxation, being assigned charge of the Georgetown Fiscal District during the absence on leave of B. A. Day, Esquire, or until further orders.

199. 14th May, 1912.

THE Deputy Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following Circular Despatch received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies:—

CIRCULAR.

Downing Street,
27th March, 1912.

Sir,—With reference to Mr. Chamberlain's circular of the 27th of August, 1902, respecting the communication to the Government of Montenegro of information with regard to plague, I have the honour to inform you that the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs has drawn my attention to the fact that paragraph 8 of Article 29 of the Treaty of Berlin has been suppressed, with the assent of all the Signatory Powers, and that Austria-Hungary is therefore no longer responsible for the sanitary police of the Montenegrin Coast. The Montenegrin Government, on whom that duty has now devolved, should be notified of all outbreaks of plague and cholera in the same way as the other Signatories to the Paris Convention of 1903.

2. I have also to inform you that it is not necessary to notify the Luxemberg Government direct of outbreaks of plague of cholera, as the Netherland Consular officers are in charge of Luxemberg interests all over the world. It will be sufficient to notify the Netherland Government (or the Netherland Consul) and request that the information may be communicated to the Luxemberg Government.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
your most obedient humble servant,
L. HARCOURT.

The Officer Administering the Government of British Guiana.

By Command,

GEO. D. BAYLEY,
Assistant Government Secretary.
